Utils Directory

Nuxt 3 uses the `utils/` directory to automatically import helper functions and other utilities throughout your application using auto-imports!

> The main purpose of the `utils/` directory is to allow a semantic distinction between your Vue composables and other auto-imported utility functions.
> The way `utils/` auto-imports work and are scanned is identical to the composables/ directory. You can see examples and more information about how they work in that section of the docs.

> These utils are only available within the Vue part of your app. Within the server directory, we auto import exported functions and variables from `~/server/utils` instead.
